Meet Local Author Victor Nelson – Author of Molly's Secret Garden

I grew up in the Little Miami area all my life. I graduated from Little Miami in 1985 and have lived in Maineville for the past 22 years. My wife, Kimberly and I are celebrating our 23rd wedding anniversary this month. She is also a lifetime Little Miami resident.

Folks ask me how I came up with the idea of writing and getting a book published about a young girl who travels through stories of the Bible with Jesus. I tell them, I believe, at least in my life that everything happens for a reason. I could talk for hours about what seemed like a tragic event at the time, ended up being to my benefit. I've been a Scout leader for over 15 years and making up and telling stories is nothing new.

One day last summer, I went to my wife, Kimberly and said, "I've got an idea for a story. It's about a little girl who has a secret garden on the top of her apartment building." She shrugged her shoulders and said, "Okay." Like I said, me coming up with stories was nothing to her.

I kept concentrating on the idea, and after a few days of thinking about it, things became clearer. So I went to my wife again and asked her, "What if while this little girl was tending to her flower garden, Jesus comes to her and takes her through stories of the Bible?" Again, she shrugged her shoulders and said, "Yea, that sounds good."

Over the next several weeks, I began writing and telling the story of this young girl named Molly working hard to create a beautiful flower garden on the roof of her apartment building.

After reading and re-reading my story, I now needed an illustrator and a publisher. I wanted to utilize as many local resources as much as I could. When I attended Little Miami High School many years ago, I was a student in the art department. I knew many of my fellow art students were talented enough to be an illustrator of a book. So that's where the first place I went to find one.

I talked to one of the assistant principals of Little Miami and told him who I was, about my project and what I needed. I ask him to pass my information to the art instructors to see if they could recommend any of their students to be my illustrator.

After about a week, a young lady called me one evening asking about the project. She said her name was Raechel Lombardo and she was a junior at Little Miami. I told Raechel I would e-mail the story to her and to let me know what she thought. She called me a few days later and said she loved it and would like to meet. We met for the first time a few days later to review some of her sketches and ideas. After my wife and I saw the talent this young lady possessed, we knew I had found the perfect illustrator for the job.

Now that I found an illustrator, all I needed was a publisher. After several attempts, my success of finding a publisher was looking very slim. If you're not a president or a famous actor/actress no one wants to talk to you. But as I said earlier, I believe that everything happens for a reason.

If you can remember, there were a lot of bad storms in the spring of 2013. By mid-summer, my neighborhood was being bombarded by roofing company's trying to sell my insurance company a new roof for my house.

I kept telling them, "No, my roof is fine" and sent them away. But one day, I truly believe that God stepped in and intervened.

I live next door to my in-laws and one day a man from a roofing company stopped in to talk to them about replacing their roof. It was the same scenario as the numerous roofing companies before him, but this time something was different.

My in-laws agreed to let them and the insurance company replace the roof of their house, but another blessing came out of the whole situation. After having numerous conversations with the owner of the company, my in-laws found out he was getting a book published.

He and I had a conversation about also replacing my roof and the publishing company he was going through. After he gave me the publisher's name I researched them and sent in my story for review.

Within about two weeks, I received a publishing contract offer for my story and a new roof from my insurance company. There is truth to the old saying, "The Lord works in mysterious ways."

I have written five more stories of Molly and Jesus' adventures together. All of them include current events and today's problems in the world. The problems include homelessness, trying to help fellow students in school, a sick family member and of course the birth of Jesus.

The next book to be released will be Molly's Golden Voyage. It will include Molly dealing with drugs and violence in her community. She wants to make a change in her neighborhood, but thinks just because she's a young girl; there isn't anything she is able to do about it. Jesus introduces her to Noah and shows her why God changed the world with a great flood.

Just a little insight for the Little Miami residents, currently I have three more books in the works. They include the miracles of Jesus, Molly dealing with peer pressure and the crucifixion of Jesus.

I have heard many people are purchasing copies of Molly's Secret Garden for their children and grandchildren. I've also heard stories of Sunday school teachers purchasing copies for their students and reading to them each week during class.

Molly's Secret Garden is available through Barnes & Noble and Amazon.com. I try to keep a few copies on hand and if you do not have one of these accounts, you can call me at 513.509.5509 and I will personally make a home delivery.

Help the Salem-Morrow Fire Department Protect Your Dreams

The quicker the Salem-Morrow Fire Department's firefighters or EMT's can locate you, the quicker we can begin helping you and your family. In an effort to locate your home or business in an emergency, the Salem-Morrow Fire Department is providing a 6" x 18" reflective sign that will clearly display your street address. These signs are invaluable to firefighters, EMT's, and police officers, who may be looking for your home in your time of need. Similar signs have been installed in other communities with startling results. The Salem-Morrow Fire Department is selling these signs at the low cost of $12.00 each. If you wish to have the SMFD mount your sign for you, they will do so for $14.00. Each sign has your street address prominently displayed on both sides in highly reflective 3" numbers against a green background similar to those on an interstate sign. The signs are installed in such a way that assures their visibility, even in high grass and snowy weather conditions. If you would like to purchase one of these signs, simply stop by the Salem-Morrow Fire Department, 5270 East U. S. Route 22 & State Route 3, Morrow, Ohio 45152, to complete an order form. In approximately 7 days, your sign will be ready for pickup or installation. Generally, the signs can be made, while you wait, in less than 10 minutes. Isn't $12.00 worth the peace of mind of knowing that help can find you in your time of need?

Quaker Heritage Center Joins Smithsonian Magazine's Tenth Annual Museum Day Live!

Special Saturday Hours to see The Pity of War: Words and Images of World War I

The Quaker Heritage Center will open its doors for special hours on Saturday, September 27, 2014, as part of Smithsonian magazine's tenth annual Museum Day Live! A nationwide event, Museum Day Live! offers free admission to visitors presenting a Museum Day Live! ticket at a participating museum or cultural institution. Since the Quaker Heritage Center never charges admission, this is a special opportunity to visit on a weekend.

Inclusive by design, the event represents Smithsonian's commitment to make learning and the spread of knowledge accessible to everyone, giving museums across all 50 states the opportunity to emulate the admission policy of the Smithsonian museums in Washington DC. Last year's event drew over 400,000 participants, and this year's event expects record-high participation.

"We are thrilled to be a part of Museum Day Live!" said Ruth Brindle, Curator of the Quaker Heritage Center. "While we always offer free admission to community members, we recognize that it may be difficult for families and individuals to visit with our limited hours. The mission of Museum Day Live! fit perfectly with our desire to be a community destination." As a result, the Center will be open from 12 noon to 5 p.m. on Saturday, September 27.

The current exhibit, The Pity of War: Words and Images of World War I, is a student-produced exhibit on display at the Quaker Heritage Center of Wilmington College through December 12, 2014. The Center is open Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., and the last Saturday of each month, 12 noon to 5 p.m.

The Museum Day Live! ticket is available to download at Smithsonian.com/museumdaylive. Visitors who present the Museum Day Live! ticket will gain free entrance for two at participating venues for one day only. One ticket is permitted per household, per email address. For more information about Museum Day Live! 2014 and a list of participating museums and cultural institutions, please visit: Smithsonian.com/museumday/venues.

Guest Speaker at the Quaker Heritage Center – "Friends Abroad: Wilmington Quakers in World War I"
Houses demolished. Farms destroyed. Families torn apart. It was these horrible conditions facing civilians that prompted almost 500 young American Quakers to volunteer as relief workers in Europe during World War I. Under the auspices of the Red Cross, these Quakers – alongside hundreds of other volunteers from multiple denominations – were trained in healthcare, agriculture, construction, and nutrition. 100 young Quaker men were specifically organized and trained by the American Friends Service Committee (AFSC), a Quaker organization modeled after a similar British Quaker organization.

On Tuesday, September 30, 2014, Dr. D. Neil Snarr, Professor Emeritus of Wilmington College, will present a lecture on the young men from Clinton County who participated in this relief work. Some volunteered with AFSC, others directly with the Red Cross, but they all returned home deeply touched by what they witnessed in war-torn Europe. "Friends Abroad: Wilmington Quakers in World War I" will be held in the T. Canby Jones Meetinghouse of the Quaker Heritage Center in the Boyd Cultural Arts Center on the campus of Wilmington College at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, September 30.

The exhibit will be on display at the Quaker Heritage Center of Wilmington College through December 12, 2014. The Center is open Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., and the last Saturday of each month, 12 noon to 5 p.m. Other special programming is planned for November and December.

Contact Ruth M. Brindle, Curator, or visit www.wilmington.edu/qhc for more information on the exhibit and a full calendar of events.

The Quaker Heritage Center Presents “All Is Calm: The Christmas Truce of 1914” – November 11, 13 & 15

The events that have eventually brought about the Christmas Eve truce of 1914 create one of those stories that almost defy believability. While Pope Benedict XV had suggested a temporary hiatus of the war for the celebration of Christmas, the warring countries refused any official cease-fire. But on Christmas Eve, many German and British troops sang Christmas carols to each other across the lines, and on Christmas Day, soldiers from each side emerged from the trenches to exchange presents of cigarettes and plum puddings, sing carols and songs, and play soccer. That the truce did indeed happen, and that we can experience that story by way of the recollections and words of those who were there, make for an incredibly compelling story of the better parts of human nature winning out in an unbelievably horrible situation.

“The young men who found themselves in the trenches that Christmas were experiencing a type of warfare that was incomprehensible to all of them,” Cantabile Director Steven Haines said. “That so many of them dealt with the horrors through the written word is equally astonishing. Yet, write they did; leaving us with words that are full of pathos, humor, confession, and revelation. Collectively they left us with a ‘script’ that no single author could have written, let alone imagined.” That “script” takes the form of “All Is Calm,” a choral performance by the Cantabile Men’s Ensemble, which will be presented at the Quaker Heritage Center on November 11, 13, and 15, 2014, at 7:30 pm.

The performance offers the words left behind combined with music to tell this story without interference from an author’s intrusion. The poetry, letters, journal entries and random musings tell a profound and moving story without the need for any further embellishment. Inhumanity gave way to sense and civility for short time during the early months of one of the most horrific events in world history. “As a director of theatre and music,” Haines noted, “I constantly work discover and tell stories and move us and change us. In this case, the effect is even more compelling because we are using only the words and the songs of those who actually lived it.”

The program is being offered in conjunction with “The Pity of War: Words and Images of World War I,” a student-produced exhibit on display at the Quaker Heritage Center of Wilmington College through December 12, 2014. The Center is open Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., and the last Saturday of each month, 12 noon to 5 p.m.

Contact Ruth M. Brindle, Curator, or visit www.wilmington.edu/qhc for more information on the exhibit and a full calendar of events.

New Exhibit to Open at the Quaker Heritage Center – Now through December 12

100 years ago, one of the Earth’s most deadly conflicts began: World War I. By the end of “The War to End All Wars,” over 37 million people were dead, wounded, or listed missing. “It’s a story that we tend to forget,” said Ruth Brindle, Curator of the Quaker Heritage Center. “World War I is often overshadowed by World War II, particularly here in the United States, where the war’s impact wasn’t felt as acutely as it was in Europe. That’s why we felt this exhibit - The Pity of War: Words and Images of World War I - is necessary.”

The exhibit will be on display through December 12, 2014, and opens with a brief overview of the chronology of the war itself, then delves into the stories of those who lived through those events as soldiers, civilians, and Conscientious Objectors. "Using the words of these individuals, and highlighting those stories with images from the period, really brings the experience home on a personal level," Brindle noted. Of particular interest to the mission of the Quaker Heritage Center is the inclusion of stories of individual Quakers who registered as Conscientious Objectors or volunteered for relief work in war-torn Europe. That particular interest is why Stephen Angell, Geraldine Leatherock Professor of Quaker Studies at Earlham School of Religion, will be the guest lecturer at the exhibit opening. His talk, "A. Neave Brayshaw and the Re-Invigoration of the Quaker Peace Testimony During World War I," will explore the way the Religious Society of Friends (Quakers) responded to the War.

The exhibit will be on display at the Quaker Heritage Center of Wilmington College from July 28 through December 12, 2014. The Center is open Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., and the last Saturday of each month, 12 noon to 5 p.m. Other special programming is planned for September and November.

Viox Excavating 6-Month Reminder

It's time to divert your septic system. Doing this twice a year helps your septic or mound system lasts a lifetime. For more insights, see our free report Prevent Septic System Nightmares! 6 Things You Need To Know .

Diverting Your Septic System Instructions

1. You'll need a "key" to do this. One was provided as a part of the septic system installation and may be stored inside one of the risers on your tank. If your key has been misplaced, a replacement can be purchased from your local hardware store.
2. Take the lid off the white PVC pipe that sticks up out of the ground. You will see a 1 and 2 at the 11:00 and 1:00 positions. (If they are obscured by mud, pour water in to rinse them.)
3. Use the key to turn the valve to the other number. It may be quite difficult to turn but will not break.
4. Return the lid and forget about it until you receive your next reminder in 6 months.

Additional Reminders

Six months from now, and every 6 months thereafter, you'll receive an email reminding you to divert your system. If you move or want to stop receiving the reminders, you can always unsubscribe at the bottom of each email.

Viox Excavating

We're pleased to help you with all your excavating needs. In addition to septic and mound systems, we do:

- Pond Repairs
- Complete Lot Development
- Install Hauled Water Storage Systems
- Other Excavating Services

Please let us know if there is any way we can help.

Shelton's Produce and Glory Farms at Deerfield Farmers Market & Lebanon Farm Market

No chickens available this week, and we already have some sold next week, so order early. Also, NOW is the time to order your Thanksgiving turkeys. We will have green beans, tomatoes, and an assortment of other produce between Glory Farms, Shelton Produce, and Wild Holly Farm. Also sprouts, microgreens, jams and jellies and syrups, yeast breads and sweet breads, cookies, shortbreads (new flavor going over well, coconut, so we now have plain, pecan, and coconut), and more. Come see us. Freshly made blackberries. CSA's will have tomatoes, eggs, blackberries, and I'll have to see what else. Winter CSA's will be available. We have a "standing order" egg list, eggs available directly from the farm. So the top of the list gets eggs, and on down the list till we run out. A reminder that the discount price ONLY goes to CURRENT herdshares and CSA's. And welcome to our new herdshares, and a reminder that our cows will be resting in November, and delivering in December, and milk will resume in January. Also a reminder that come rain, snow, ice, whatever (unless the county shuts the roads down) we will be at the Lebanon Market every Thursday from 3 till at least 5 all winter, except Thanksgiving. Also, the regular Lebanon market is 3 till 7 till the middle of October, when some vendors go home, and others (us, Shelton Produce, Ohio Organic Cheese, Web Valley, and some others) are there all winter till the market opens again next May, when we will still be there. :) Also, the Deerfield Market is open nine till noon through October, BUT we will be there EVERY Saturday with CSA's, herdshares, and orders, from 10 till 11 am all winter, until the market opens again in May. Again, unless the county shuts the roads down. The markets end in October, but we will still be there for you. The best way to receive your produce, baked goods, jams, syrup, eggs, etc. during Fall, Winter, and early Spring is to order ahead! www.wildhollyfarm.com is the website to check in and order on, or email me directly gloryent@tds.net or call or text 937.725.8773.

In conjunction with OSU Extension, the following training courses are being offered to begin the program:

- Hancock County
September 25th, 8:30 a.m. – 11:30 a.m.
The Lighthouse Banquet Facility

Pre-registration is required to attend, and can be done online at <http://go.osu.edu/fertilizer>. For more detailed program and location information see <http://agcrops.osu.edu/calendar>. Future training sessions will be held throughout the state on both a county and regional basis. FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

SENATE BILL 150 – AGRICULTURAL FERTILIZER APPLICATOR CERTIFICATION

Q. Who has to be certified? Do all my employees have to be certified?

A. Anybody who applies commercial fertilizer to 50 or more acres must be certified. The law also allows for an uncertified person to apply fertilizer if they are under the direct supervision of a person who is certified.

Q. How will the certification process work?

A. There are three steps in the certification process. You must: fill out an application form, pay an application fee, and attend a training session. A person that already has a valid commercial or private pesticide applicator license must apply for the certification but will not be required to pay the application fee. The fertilizer training session will also be included in the pesticide license training beginning in early 2015.

Q. Where can I get trained? When do I need to be certified?

A. Training will be offered throughout the state on a both a county and regional basis. Persons intending to apply fertilizer on 50 or more acres are encouraged to become certified as soon as possible, no later than September 30th, 2017.

Q. How often do I have to renew my certification?

A. All certifications will be valid for three years, at which point the applicator will need to be recertified. The recertification procedure will be the same as the initial certification procedure.

Q. If I hire someone else to apply my fertilizer do I still have to be certified?

A. No, however the person hired to apply fertilizer must be certified or under the direct supervision of someone who is certified.

Q. Can I buy fertilizer without a certification?

A. Yes. The certification is only required if you are intending to apply fertilizer.

Q. What happens if I don't get certified?

A. Applying commercial fertilizer after September 30th, 2017 without a certification could result in fines and/or being charged with a misdemeanor offense.

Q. How much will it cost?

A. The initial application fee for fertilizer certification will be the same as the pesticide license fee: $30. A person that already has a valid commercial or private applicator license will not be required to pay the application fee.

Q. Do I have to keep records of my fertilizer usage?

A. Yes, the bill requires certified applicators to maintain records including, but not limited to the date, place and rate of application of fertilizer, the type of fertilizer, and the name of the person applying the fertilizer. Records must be maintained for three years after.

Q. Is my fertilizer usage a public record now?

A. Generally no, the records must be kept by the certification holder so they can be audited, but are not considered public records because they will not be submitted to the state. However, ODA can take possession of records if conducting an investigation for enforcement action. Those records would then be considered public.

Q. Will I be inspected?

A. The department will conduct random record audits.

Q. Does this certification offer me any legal protections?

A. The bill does offer some legal protection against civil suits, certification being one of three components. Additionally, the certified applicator must maintain records and must have an approved nutrient management plan.

The Surprise IRA Tax

While preparing 2012 individual tax returns in early 2013, we noticed a trickle of problems on Schedule K-1 from partnership investments in IRAs. That trickle became a flash flood this latest tax season. It is a problem which will erupt in an earthquake of tax and penalty if taxpayers receive an unexpected 1099-R for 2014 IRA distributions of which they were unaware!

What is this unexpected flow of taxable income from IRAs? In late 2012 and throughout 2013, investment advisers started advising clients to invest, or to rollover their IRAs in limited partnerships. These investments were sold as a way to increase returns, diversify the portfolio and increase liquidity (and were high commission products!). The culprit here is Internal Revenue Code Section 511 which applies the 39.6% unrelated business income tax (UBIT) on IRAs that earn income from a trade or business activity that generates more than $1,000 of income.

IRAs are exempt from UBIT on interest, dividends, royalties, rents and a few other items. The trap is that most limited partnerships operate businesses and borrow money, and most business and debt-financed income is considered UBIT when received by an IRA. Even if the IRA has exempt income the percentage attributed to debt financing may be subject to the UBIT tax at a flat 39.6% rate.

Look to the K-1 to see if it includes UBIT amounts, and if so, the trustee of the IRA is required to file IRS Form 990-T and pay the 39.6% tax. Even worse, the withdrawal from the IRA to pay the tax may be a taxable distribution, and if the taxpayer is under 59 and ½ it may be subject to the 10% early withdrawal penalty-all reported in January, 2015 on Form 1099-R!

Let's see what happens here to the average taxpayer

Assume the taxpayer rolled over $50,000 into a master limited partnership (MLP) in the oil and gas industry after being told they could earn as much as a 10% return. Assuming they did earn 10% this year that means they earned $5,000. This $5,000 is most assuredly subject to the UBIT tax, but they do receive a $1,000 exemption, so only $4,000 will be taxed at roughly 40% or $1,600 of tax. Because it is extremely unlikely that the IRA trustee paid quarterly required estimated tax payments, there might also be an underpayment penalty of say $100. If the IRA pays the tax and penalty, out of IRA funds this may be treated as an early withdrawal subject to tax at the individual level of ($1700 @ 30%) $510, plus a potential penalty of $170. So total tax would be (1600+100+510+170)=$2,380. Plus, additional tax will be paid upon normal distributions. Even worse, any operating losses in the MLP are kept inside the IRA without benefit to the individual.

We do not want to go so far as to say that IRAs should not invest in MLP's. That is clearly an investment decision. Our fear is that most taxpayers are not receiving the full picture of the tax aspect of an MLP investment in an IRA and that some brokers are motivated by commissions rather than suitability. Add in the complex reporting requirements that we fear IRA trustees are ignoring and we are looking at a perfect storm of potentially disqualified IRAs for non-compliance by trustees at worst, and dramatically reduced investment returns at best, particularly when compared to the risk of the investment.

EPA Encourages Homeowners to Care for Their Septic Systems During SepticSmart Week – Sept. 22-26

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency will hold its second annual SepticSmart Week September 22-26. SepticSmart Week outreach activities encourage homeowners and communities to care for and maintain their septic systems. Nearly one-quarter of all American households depend on septic systems to treat their wastewater.

Failure to maintain septic system can lead to back-ups and overflows that pollute local waterways, create dead zones, raise water treatment costs and endanger human health. Pollutants such as nitrogen, phosphorus and fecal bacteria can enter ground and surface waters from septic systems. Such pollutants affect drinking water, lakes, rivers and estuaries. The algal blooms they may generate can produce toxins harmful to human, animals and marine life.

Data collected by states attribute septic systems and other onsite wastewater treatment methods to water quality impairments in 22,909 miles of rivers and streams; 199,995 acres of lakes, reservoirs and ponds; and 72,320 acres of wetlands. By properly maintaining their septic systems, homeowners can help reduce these numbers.

“When homeowners protect their septic systems, it’s good for their health, their neighbors’ health, and their pocketbooks,” said Ken Kopocis, Deputy Assistant Administrator in EPA’s Office of Water. “Not only is EPA directly educating homeowners on septic maintenance, but we are also coordinating with states and municipalities to do the same.”

During SepticSmart Week, EPA will provide homeowners with tips for septic maintenance, including:

- Protect It and Inspect It:
- Think at the Sink:
- Don’t Overload the Commode:
- Don’t Strain Your Drain:
- Shield Your Field:

EPA’s SepticSmart program educates homeowners about proper septic system care and maintenance all year long. In addition, it serves as an online resource for industry practitioners, local governments and community organizations, providing access to tools to educate clients and residents. For more information, visit:
